YANA MANN & SHAUN STAMP

During a meeting of minds over a roof top in Dubai, Mezzo Soprano Yana Mann and Artist Shaun Stamp exchanged their interests in the journey of love and loss, death, hope and despair. Since that moment they have developed a mutual interest to collaborate with visuals for Manns solo performance at Theatre of Digital Art (TODA).

Eudaimonia themes on the exploration of todays contemporary idea of happiness in its longevity, and our individual pursuit to grasp it against the inner parts of understanding ourselves, and that mirror to the love within.

Shaun Stamps response to Yana Manns song cycles Poemas De Bar Op.12 and Arias Florentinas Op.15 written by composer Julian De La Chica are reflected through his photography, and on-going series of bio illumination art. Stamps work reflects symbolism and complexities of being human, while existing between the man-made and natural worlds; While Julian de La Chica's cycles for Yana Mann explore the polar opposites in extreme emotions that could be revealed between the edges of love and death. Yana Mann combines ethereal vocals of poems and Arias to create a duende for De La Chica as he sought to combine human connection.

In this immersive show at TODA, an exploration of art, music and voice combined by Yana Mann and Shaun Stamp is an ethereal performance to be experienced.
